Bartholomew Colón b. founded Santo Domingo, HAITI, the 1st European town in the new world. The colonists took slaves quickly exterminated the natives, and imported negroes from Africa to take their place as laborers, who soon formed by far the greater part of the mainland but in the 17th century a colony of French buccaneers allowed to make their Headquarters at the Westward of Island of Haste, resulting in the ceding of that part of the island to France by the Treaty of RYSWICK (1677)
